

Data Science Team

Our PhD trained data science team have skills which enable them to find elegant solutions for difficult business and research problems. Our solutions are constructed as end-to-end pipelines which enable our clients to move forward independently through the use of deployed models for decision making and process understanding.

Some key strengths in our team include advanced machine learning, modern statistical methods, visualisations, economic analysis and commercial quality coding with deployments into major commercial programs.

Dr Chris Strickland
Monash University

Dr Mingzhu Sun
University of Queensland

Dr Clair Alston-Knox
University of Newcastle

Dr Theo Gazos
Monash University